JUVENILES, &c., STANDARD

[For the Commonwealth.] LUCY PAYNE TODD.

Died, 17th December, 1860, aged 9 years. Daughter of James M. and Alisonia B. Todd, of Frankfort, Kentucky, and niece of the well-beloved Dolly Payne Madison, wife of James Madison, Ex-President, of the United States.

"Early bright, transient, chaste as morning dew She sparkled, was exhaled, and went to Heaven."

O, beautiful child of earth, Angel in Heaven to-day; Let me fold thee once more to my throbbing heart, That my sorrow may have its way! No blood of thy stately house Courseth within my veins, Yet my stricken heart for thine early death, Like a shattered harp, complains. Oh! Lucy! sweet child of my love. No dust, no burial gloom, From mine inward vision, can shut thee out In thine exquisite earthly bloom.

My Lucy, sweet child of my love, Rose of the desolate desert sands. I shall greet thee in gladness above. I shall feel thy clasping arms; I shall kiss thine innocent lips, And forget, in the light of thy loving eyes, The gloom of the grave's eclipse. No torturing change of earth Can blot out my love for thee; And thou, in the light of the innermost Heaven, Shalt keep thy love for me.

Clear fount of the desert rook,

O! antique, beautiful Home! Paths, pressed by her small white feet; Fair chambers and halls, in the coming time, Where her kindred and friends shall meet; Ye are trebly beautiful now; Ye are richly beloved and fair; For her angel presence, baptised in tears, Shall hallow ye everywhere With the light of immortal kope, Shall hallow her burial sod-For, like Enoch, we cannot say she died, But she hath gone to God.

I remember a summer day, When the sunshine and showers were blent, And gathered roses in ripeness rare, Their beauty and perfume lent. But the light of thy childish grace, In that old familiar room, Was a rarer, fairer, joy to ma, Than the sunlit showers and bloom. Thy soft carressing wiles; Thy laughter of glad surprise; Thy rippled music of childish words, And the glance of thy gentle eyes.

Oh! Lucy! sweet child of my love, Fain would I fold in my arms, Close, close, to the warmth of my throbbing heart, Thy boautiful, buried charmst O, winds, sing soft and low; O, winds, sing low and sweet, Till the little blue forget-me-nots Shall gather about her feet. [Condensed from the Louisville Journal.] Constitutional Union Convention-Held January 8, 1861, at Mozart Hall, Louisville, Kentucky.

This body assembled this morning at half past eleven o'clock in Mozart Hall, and we have never seen that large auditorium more densely crowded than on the occasion. The body of the hall was occupied by the delegates, and there was not a vacant seat; indeed, all the isles and passages were occupied. The galleries appropriated to the use of spectators could hardly have contained another person, which evinced the unparal-leled interest which the people of all classes take in every movement looking to the perpetuation of the Union, and the pacification of our present national difficulties.

Judge Bullock called the Convention to order by nominating Hon. John B. Huston, of Clarke county, as temporary Chairman which was unanimously agreed to. In tak ing his seat Mr. H. made a brief address icitating the Convention upon the large attendance at such an inclement season o the year, and invoking a spirit of patriotism, concord, and union to guide its deliberations.

The Rev. John L. McKee then addressed the throne of Grace in a fervent prayer. John H. McHenry, Jr., and Blanton Duncan were appointed Secretaries.

Judge Bullock then moved that a commit tee of one from each Congressional District be selected by the Chair to report permanent officers for the Convention, which was adopted, and the following gentlemen designated

The Policy of South Carolina.

When Keitt, and Rhett, and other head devils of disunion, first began to gabble about secession, they pretended to be perfectly horrified at the very idea of a civil war. Peaceable secession was their hobby Well, South Carolina seceded all by herself. Spurning the counsel of the border slave did not agree in politics, as the following Delegations from all the counties were pres States, she rushed headlong into disunion proclaiming her insolent threat of "drag ging" the other slave States after her. The modus operandi by which she expected to "drag" other States after her is just beginning to develope itself. It is this: While she pretended to desire peaceable secession she secretly hoped that the imbecile Admin istration would oppose her with force, and thus excite the sympathy of the slave States ately assumed a horrizontal attitude, seeing and gradually draw them all into the quar- any quantity of stars. Finding that her secession created no great stir outside of her own limits, and had no visible effect upon the solar system or the putty market, some of the many wise and far-seeing statesmen, with which she is overrun, conceived a brilliant idea, which was that even South Carolina could not get along without money. To supply their immediate demands they resorted to forced loans and bled the rich planters to within an inch of term of four years; and the Senate shall have their patriotism. Hon. Henry C. Burnett, by his disunion course in Congress, damaged himself materially with the people of his district. He saw that something must be done to create a reaction, so he had Noble removed from the Paduch postoffice, hoping to secure Noble's abuse therefor. THE AMALGAMATION OF LANGUAGES .- There is growing tendency in this age to appropriate the most expressive words of other languages, and after a while to incorporate them into our own; thus the word Cephalic, which is from the Greek, signifying "for the head," is now becoming popularized in connection with Mr. Spalding's great Headache remedy, but it will soon be used in a more general way, and the word Cephalic will become as common as Electrotype and many others, whose distinction as foreign words has been worn away by common usage, until they seem "native and to the manor born.'

> The Headache is the favorite sign by which nature makes known any deviation whatever from natural state of the brain, and viewed in this light it may be looked on as a safeguard, intended to give notice of disease which might otherwise es-cape attention till too late to be remedied; and its indications should never be neglected. Headaches may be classified under two names, viz: Symptomatic and Idiopathic. Symptomatic Headache is exceedingly common, and is the precursor of a great variety of diseases, among which are Apoplexy, Gout, Rheumatism, and all febrile diseases In its nervous form it is sympathetic of disease of the stomach constituting sick headache, of hepatic lisense constituting bilious headache, of worms constipation and other disorders of the bowels, a well as renal and uterine affections. Diseases of the heart are very frequently attended with Head aches; Ansemia and plethora are also affections which frequently occasion headache. Idiopathic Headache is also very common, being usually dis-tinguished by the name of nervousheadache, some-times coming on suddenly in a state of apparently sound health and prostrating at once the ments and physical energies, and in other instances comes on slowly, heralded by depression of spirits or acerbity of temper. In most instances the pain is in the front of the head, over one or both eyes, and sometimes provoking vomiting; under this class may also be named Neuralgia.

For the treatment of either class of Headache the Cophalic Pills have been found a sure and safe remedy, relieving the most acute pains in a few minutes, and by its subtle power eradicating the diseases of which headache is the unerring index.

Constipation or Costiveness,

No one of the "many ills flesh is heir to" is so prevalent, so little understood, and so much negprevalent, so little understood, and so much neglected as Costiveness. Often originating in carelessness, or sedentary habits; it is regarded as a slight disorder of too little consequence to excite anxiety, while in reality it is the precursor and companion of many of the most fatal and dangerous diseases, and unless early eradicated it will bring the sufferer to an untimely grave. Among the lighter evils of which costiveness is the usual attendant are Headache, Colie, Rheumatism, Foul Breath, Piles and others of like nature, while a long train of frightful diseases such as Malignant Fevers. is a constitutional disease, a corruption of the blood, by which this fluid becomes vitiated, weak, and poor. Being in the circulation, it pervades the whole body, and may burst out in disease on any part of it. No organ is free from its attacks, nor is there one which it may not determ. The confulence tent is available. not destroy. The scrofulous taint is variously caused by mercurial disease, low living, dis ordered or unhealthy food, impure air, filth and filthy habits, the depressing vices, and, above all, by the venereal infection. Whatever be its origin, it is hereditary in the con-stitution, descending "from parents to children unto the third and fourth generation;" indeed, it seems to be the rod of Him who says, "I will visit the iniquities of the fathers upon their children."

Its effects commence by deposition from the blood of corrupt or ulcerous matter, which, in the lungs, liver, and internal organs, is termed tubercles; in the glands, swellings; and on the surface, eruptions or sores. This foul corruption, which genders in the blood, depresses the energies of life, so that scrofulous constitutions not only suffer from scrofulous com plaints, but they have far less power to with-stand the attacks of other diseases; consequently, vast numbers perish by disorders which, although not scrofulous in their nature, are still rendered fatal by this taint in the system. Most of the consumption which de-cimates the human family has its origin directly in this scrofulous contamination; and many destructive diseases of the liver, kidneys, brain, and, indeed, of all the organs, arise from or are aggravated by the same cause.

One quarter of all our people are scrofulous; their persons are invaded by this lurking infection, and their health is undermined by it. To cleanse it from the system we must renovate the blood by an alterative medicine, and invigorate it by healthy food and exercise. Such a medicine we supply in

AYER'S

Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla, the most effectual remedy which the medical skill of our times can devise for this every where prevailing and fatal malady. It is com-bined from the most active remedials that have been discovered for the expurgation of this foul disorder from the blood, and the rescue of the system from its destructive consequences. Hence it should be employed for the cure of not only scrofula, but also those other affections which arise from it, such as ERUPTIVE and SKIN DISEASES, St. ANTHONY'S FIRE, Rose, or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Blains and Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Rheumatism, Syphilitic and Mercurial Dis-EASES, DROPSY, DYSPEPSIA, DEBILITY, and, indeed, ALL COMPLAINTS ARISING FROM VITIA-TED OR IMPURE BLOOD. The popular belief in "impurity of the blood" is founded in truth, for scrofula is a degeneration of the blood. The particular purpose and virtue of this Sarsaparilla is to purity and regenerate this vital fluid, without which sound health is impossible in
